

March 16, 2020

Dear Parents,

Our faculty members have been working diligently to prepare for the upcoming weeks of home learning. I need to provide you with some updates and adjust some information that went out last week. We are pushing our start day back a day to Wednesday, March 18, and we will now have classes this Friday, March 20.

To provide our students with structure each day, we will be following a Day 1A each weekday (the schedule is below) without any class rotation or drop. Your son's teachers may be available at those times to provide instruction and feedback. Teachers will utilize a number of different instructional activities such as short prerecorded lectures, video files, Power points, and other assignments. All of this will be accessed through Canvas. We understand that at times students may not be able to be sitting at a computer at the exact time a class is scheduled. They will be able to access course information, files, etc. at other times that day.

In my previous letter, I stated that students should login to Canvas by 9:00 a.m. for us to check attendance each day. Although we will wait until then each day to run our attendance report, we will begin our school day at 8:00 each morning. Again, please contact the discipline office (504 483-3954) if your son will not be able to login to work on school assignments on a given day so that we can keep accurate records and can inform teachers of student absences.

Your son's teachers will be communicating with them through Canvas and will be providing them with information and expectations regarding their courses. There will be links posted on the Canvas homepage with instructions on how to access various online learning tools. Your patience is appreciated as our faculty begin this new process of home learning.

During this time, you are encouraged to contact Guidance staff as needed by email with any questions or concerns you may have.
